Ponies suffer horrific injuries in break-in

Reporter

Mathilde Frot

mathilde.frot@london.newsquest.co.uk

Two ponies at the Epsom Riding For The Disabled Association (Epsom RDA) on Hook Road were badly injured during an overnight break-in.

The ponies Buffy and Marigold were discovered by Epsom RDA volunteers on Wednesday, August 15 morning with wounds on their jaws, legs, shoulders and necks.

Stella Milne, chair of the board of Epsom RDA, said the burglars had broken down electric fencing posts, a fundraising shed and scattered the contents of a first aid box onto the floor.

Mrs Milne said: "The most serious injury is to Marigold. She has a wound to her jaw which potentially could be fractured."

"We will be monitoring the injury over the next few days and hoping this will not be the case."

Mrs Milne said she suspects the puncture wounds were caused by throwing or pushing in the end of electrical fence posts.

A number of caravans had gained access to adjacent Hook Road Arena on Monday, August 13, but the group has since vacated the site at 2.30 pm on Wednesday, August 15, after the police issued a section 61 order.

Mrs Milne said she suspected the attack was connected to the unauthorised encampment in Hook Road Arena.

She added: "We have been in touch with the local council and they have taken a section 61 to remove the travellers from the Hook Road Arena."

A Surrey Police spokesperson said: "We can confirm that a horse was injured during the course of a burglary at the Epsom Riding School for the Disabled yesterday night. Investigations are ongoing at this time."

Licence pleas

Epsom and Ewell Borough Council is urging all landlords of houses in multiple occupation to apply for a licence before new legislation comes into force. Landlords of houses in multiple occupation let to five or more occupants formed of more than one household must apply for a licence by Monday 1 October or face criminal charges. Currently, compulsory licensing only covers houses of multiple occupation properties of three storeys or more. The new regulations will cover all properties let to five or more occupants formed of more than one household with shared communal areas. Cllr Barry Nash, chairman of the community and wellbeing committee said: "HMOs make a valuable contribution to local housing, as they offer a more economically accessible form of housing for many people on low or moderate incomes. There are strict standards regarding licensed HMOs that landlords must follow, which are enforced by our environmental health team."

Group of travellers pitch up on new Aldi site

A group of travellers have parked up on the site of a former car dealership in North Cheam – the second time in four months. Police were called to reports of travellers having gained entry to Evans Autos, in London Road, shortly after 8pm on August 14. A Met Police spokesman said officers attended the scene and have since contacted the private landowners, who are believed to be Aldi. It is not currently confirmed how the travellers accessed the site. Images show police vehicles outside the premises dealing with the incident. In April, a group of travellers got into the same site before images circulated online of the "shocking" fly-tipped waste which was left there.

Plumber delivers baby as ambulance delayed

Operator talks husband through process as crew is 15min late

Reporter
Mathilde Frot
mathilde.frot@london.newsquest.co.uk

An Epsom plumber claims he was forced to deliver his wife's baby in the middle of the night while waiting for the ambulance to arrive. Admir Tula, of Alexandra Road, said his wife Ervina, 30, experienced contractions at around 4am on Tuesday, July 31 two weeks before she was due to deliver. Mr Tula said his wife gave birth approximately an hour after she suffered her first contraction, when she was told by the maternity unit at Epsom General Hospital to stay put and take painkillers. The 41-year-old said he dialled 999 as soon as his wife's water broke and was told by the emergency call operator that he had no choice but to deliver his baby at home. He said: "The operator was really good. I would like to thank her for keeping me calm. If she had put the phone down then god knows what would have happened. "I kept my cool because I needed to keep calm because I could not afford to panic or mess up. This was my family, my baby, my wife. "We only live five minutes away from the hospital. The ambulance turned up 30 minutes late and they were looking at each other, sitting down because everything was done. "It's just a lack of response and communication." A spokesperson for South East Coast Ambulance Service NHS trust said: "I can confirm that our records show that we were notified of this call by London Ambulance Service at approximately 5am and responded to the scene in a little more than 15 minutes. "We have not been contacted by anyone on this and would add that we are happy to look into any concerns raised in more detail if anyone wishes to contact us directly."

New scanning for fingerprints

More suspected criminals will have their fingerprints taken on the street in under a minute after Britain's biggest police force developed its own scanning software. A number of forces have used similar technology since 2012, but the Metropolitan Police has now developed a system using cheaper kit that also saves £200,000 a year in support costs. The reduced bill means another 600 devices will be rolled out to officers in the next six months. In recent years around 100 have been in use across the capital. The devices, that plug in to a smartphone, can check a suspect's prints across police databases without the need to go to a police station. This can discourage criminals being able to use a false name when stopped. In February the Home Office said it expected around 20 forces to be using a new mobile fingerprint scanning system by the end of the year. For the latest news visit epsom.guardian.co.uk/news

Police appeal

British Transport Police are appealing for public help in identifying a group of boys, after a number of bikes were stolen from stations in Surrey.

Bicycles were stolen from Ewell, Dorking and Ashted on five occasions between April and July.

Officers would like to speak to the four boys in this image, as they may have information which could help the investigation.

Anyone with information is asked to contact 0800 40 50 40 or text 61016 with the reference number 567 and the date Friday July, 10.

Wilsons wins regional prize

Firm praised for Motability work

Reporter
Mathilde Frot
mathilde.frot@london.newsquest.co.uk

Wilsons Peugeot in Epsom has won a regional award for customer service and its work with the motability scheme.

The motability scheme lets disabled people swap their mobility allowance for a new car, mobility scooter or electric wheelchair.

Each year, motability dealer awards are presented to dealerships across the country to reward their high standards of service and support to motability scheme customers. The award is judged based on customer feedback and reviews of dealers' performance.

Sabrina Dennis, motability manager at Wilsons Epsom, said: "The work we're able to do here with the Motability scheme is life-changing for so many people. It's an honour to be recognised for providing our customers with a positive and rewarding experience."

The award will be presented to Wilsons Peugeot on August, 24.

Residents air concerns about hospital's land sale proposals

Reporter

Mathilde Frot

mathilde.frot@london.
newsquest.co.uk

A public meeting offered a platform on Friday, August 10, for residents to discuss Epsom Hospital's plans to sell off part of its land for flats.

Current proposals would see the sale of parts of the Epsom site, including York House and old accommodation block, to build 195 flats and 170 parking spaces.

The board meeting, held at Epsom Hospital on Friday at 9.30am, was attended by Chris Grayling, MP for Epsom and Ewell and secretary of state for transport, and Daniel Elkeles, chief executive of the NHS trust.

Speaking to the Surrey Comet, Chris Grayling said: "I think the Board were surprised by the strength of feeling, and appeared to back away from a sale for housing on the scale envisaged."

"More than 200 people came along, and they had to move the meeting into a bigger room. I have offered to work with the Trust to find a better way of dealing with the challenges they face."

Martin Kimber, 24, of Hesle Grove, a law student who attended the meeting, said: "The trust is merely doing what it can by selling off the huge portion of land to stave off Conservative cuts caused by years of austerity."

"Mr Grayling appears to have been able to frame the trust as not acting competently by opposing this sell-off while denying austerity cuts have forced the hospital into this position."

In a statement published

The public meeting that was attended by Chris Grayling online, Mr Elkeles said: "As lots of local people are aware, because of our ageing buildings and the way our services are currently configured, Epsom and St Helier cannot continue as we are forever."

"Before any decisions are made, there would be a public consultation so that local people can have their say about where they think this new facility should be built." Crispin Blunt, MP for Rei-gate, said: "I hope that the Trust will now be able to pursue plans to maximise capital assets to fund improvements across its entire catchment area."

"There is a point of principle here, that the NHS must be allowed to make independent decisions on how best to maximise capital assets to fund capital infrastructure projects that will provide improved services."

Loads of waste left by travellers

Reporter
Mathilde Frot
mathilde.frot@london.
newsquest.co.uk

Concerns were raised about rubbish left strewn around the dog-free picnic area of Nonsuch Park last week, after a group of travellers left the site.

Photos reveal a debris of fly-tipped waste including broken glass, rotting food, soiled nappies, tires and household rubbish.

Epsom and Ewell council removed the unauthorised encampment from Nonsuch Park on August 9, with help from Surrey Police.

A spokesperson for the council said: "Our park team are assessing the fly tipping on the site.

"We may be able to determine where this originated.

"We will endeavour to remove the fly tipped material as soon as possible (weather dependent)."

In a post on Facebook, Richard Johnson, 47, an office manager in Worcester Park, wrote: "Perhaps the worst aspect is that Epsom & Ewell council had gone to the trouble of providing numerous wheelie bins for the travellers' convenience.

"And yet, much of the detritus has been thoughtlessly discarded, often within spitting distance of at least one of the many bins. As I left, crows were descending to busily sift through the refuse 'carpet'.

"For now, I would advise that the picnic area is best avoided until cleared."

Throughout last week, travellers were reported in multiple locations in and around Surrey and Epsom, including Alexandra Road and Hook Road Arena.

Several police cars turned away a "convoy of caravans" in Alexandra Road which had been headed towards Alexandra Recreation Ground on Friday.

A series of activities is due to be held this month

Summer fun for kids at centre

The Ashley Centre will be holding a series of children's summer activities and workshops. The free interactive workshops on offer are internet awareness, mindfulness, road safety, nutrition, anti-bullying and sustainability. Until August 29, from 10.30am to 4.30pm outside House of Fraser, children can come along and take part in the free activities and learn about a different topic each week. On Wednesday, August 15, Nancy Nutrition will help children build their own healthy plate learning about the difference between carbs, protein and fats and how great nutrients are. On Wednesday, August 22, the emphasis is on anti-bullying when Bea Bully will show how NOT to treat other people and teach children how to detect and prevent bullying and treat other people with kindness. Finally on Wednesday, August 29, energy saving, recycling and preserving nature will be the theme with Susie Sustainable. These are not supervised play schemes and parents and guardians are requested to stay with their children and join in the fun. Booking is not necessary.

BATTLESHIPS

Find where the fleet of ships shown are hidden in the 10 by 10 grid. The numbers to the right of and below the grid indicate how many of the squares in that row are filled in with ships or parts of ships. The ships do not touch each other, even diagonally. Some squares have been filled in to start you off.

Objections to shut pub plans

Residents oppose flats on East Street

Reporter

Mathilde Frot

mathilde.frot@london.newsquest.co.uk

Epsom residents have raised objections about a proposal to demolish the King's Arms on East Street to build housing.

A planning application has been submitted to Epsom and Ewell Council to replace the locally listed pub with 16 self-contained flats, car and cycle parking and a refuse store.

Stephen Nelson, of the Epsom and Ewell history and archaeology society, said: "The design of the proposed replacement is a very poor design in a bland, square block devoid of any particular character."

"The pub clearly contributes to the character of the town and is a key building in the East Street area providing a link to the historic development of this road route in and out of the town."

The former pub near Kiln Lane

Mrs J Dessent, of Firl Court, Yeomanry Close, commented on the application: "The loss of the pub building, listed locally and dating from 1835, would take away the history of the area."

"Epsom has already lost a good deal of other licensed premises and this further loss would damage the amenities of the area."

The application is still in the consultation period, with neighbours' comments on the proposal being accepted until August 28.

Support for people coping with diabetes

Almost 3.7 million people have been diagnosed with diabetes in the UK.

The condition doesn't just affect people physically but has a big emotional impact that is equally harmful and is often overlooked. Living with diabetes can be tough, and a lack of emotional and psychological support can make it even harder to manage the condition.

At Diabetes UK we want emotional, psychological and mental health support for people with diabetes to become a priority.

We believe everyone should have the space and opportunity to talk about their emotional wellbeing, be empowered to seek support, and know where to go to get it.

Your experiences will help us make the case – so please take part in the survey and tell us how living with diabetes makes you feel, and whether the care you receive gives you enough support to cope with managing diabetes when your emotional wellbeing is low. If you are living with diabetes, if you're a parent of a child or a carer for someone with diabetes, complete our online survey by 30 September bit.ly/diabetesemotional support

Beware risks as our kids spend time online

I would like to make your readers aware of the risks that our children face as they potentially spend more time online – and offer some tips on how to keep them safe.

Sadly, we know that many children are seeing inappropriate content online.

It is a deeply disturbing fact that children can stumble across pornography, and the ease with which children can live-stream themselves online is something that all parents should be aware of.

Children with phones and tablets are effectively taking a TV crew into their bedroom and being able to broadcast to people they don't know.

We know that this can leave them open to grooming and abuse and can have an effect on their emotional health and wellbeing. We are particularly worried about grooming and children having contact with strangers online, sometimes being coerced or manipulated into sharing images.

Back in 2015, in a Barnardo's report some of our practitioners told us that referrals for internet related child sexual abuse support services ranged up to 75% of their work. Barnardo's has called for greater oversight of the internet industry, including a real need for an independent regulator. We are also calling on government for better information and education for parents, social workers and teachers when it comes to online safety.

In a bid to tackle on-line abuse and the devastating impact it can have, we would urge parents to try and understand the online world that their child is using. Learn about the games and apps they are using and make sure that parental controls, privacy setting and online filters are being used. Internet Matters has some great parental guides on everything from live-streaming to the sites, apps and games that your children might want to use.

If your child seems worried about something, talk to them. It's vital that parents keep talking to their children about their online games and take a look together at what they are doing and who they are talking to.

Start a conversation and find out who they're talking to online and what they're talking about.

You can report inappropriate behaviour or material to an organisation like CEOP (Child Exploitation and Online Protection) and we would urge anyone looking for advice or support to go to barnardos.org.uk.

It's worth remembering that the internet can also be a fantastic place for children to develop, to grow and achieve safely. It's a place where they can reach out for support if they're struggling with a particular issue – so there is a good side to the online world.

Police appeal as suspect takes van

Reporter
Riley Krause
riley.krause@london.newsquest.co.uk

Police have release an an image of a man they wish to speak with in relation to a Banstead robbery.

The victim, a man in his 20s, was delivering parcels on Hempshaw Avenue at around 12.25pm on August 7 when he was approached by an aggressive man demanding his van keys.

The suspect is believed to have taken the keys out of the victim's hands, entered the Mercedes Vito van and driven off at speed in the direction of Manor Way.

Surrey Police are asking the public for help in identifying this man who is described as:

White, late 20's, thin build, black beard, short black hair and wearing a black t-shirt.

If you have any information or you saw anyone matching this description in the area, you are asked to call police on 101 quoting reference number PR/45180084556.

Alternatively you can call Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

An Epsom decorator brought back a prize from the Britain's Top Tradesperson awards in Twickenham, staving off competition from 11 finalists.

Christina Valentine, 52, an Epsom decorator with over 30 years' experience, impressed judges with her wide range of skills and charity work and came home with the Highly Commended title.

Mrs Valentine, who trades under the name Tradeswoman Extraordinaire, faced a panel of judges at Twickenham Stadium on Friday, July 27.

Ms Valentine said she was delighted to win the Highly Commended title and hopes her award will inspire other women to enter into the competition.

Caroline Welsh, director of brand and marketing at Screwfix said: "We felt that Christina was a great ambassador for women in the trade and were impressed by her exceptional skills and strong work ethic that deserved to be highly commended against a very strong entry"

STONES TRIBUTE ROLLS INTO TOWN

The Rollin Stoned take to the stage at the Halfmoon in Putney on Saturday (August 18).

A tribute to The Rolling Stones, the band focus on the early part of their career from 1964 - 1969 including Jumping Jack Flash, Paint It Black, Not Fade Away and Satisfaction.

With a Rollin Stoned show, the costumes are shamelessly camp, gaudy and fab, the instruments genuinely vintage and the wit irreverent. However, while the tongue is never far from the cheek we make sure it is never to the detriment of the music.

A typical two hour show includes not only all the classic crowd pleasing hits, but is spiced with enough eclectic selections from the deeper recesses of Stones Album archives to satisfy the most demanding of Buffs, all performed with the same vibrantly authentic attack and raw energy that characterised the original Stones shows in their prime.

The Rollin' Stoned, 93 Lower Richmond Road, SW15 1EU, Saturday, August 18, 8pm, £13/£15. For further information visit halfmoon.co.uk

HAMPTON COURT PALACE

FOODIE HEAVEN

Tower of London and Hampton Court Palace set to host two mouthwatering summer events

This summer, the popular Tower of London and Hampton Court Palace Food Festivals will be returning to their respective homes for another foodie extravaganza. Hosted in partnership with River Street Events, the festivals offer a scrumptious day out at two of London's most iconic landmarks.

Both food festivals are set to offer up a delectable selection of artisan producers, a stellar line up of chefs and culinary experts, fabulous entertainment, family fun and great live music. The Kitchen theatre is again set to be a highlight of both weekends, and this year will feature live cookery demonstrations from a whole host of top chefs and gastronomic experts. Nadiya Hussain, Melissa Hemsley, Dr Rupy Aujla, Rhiannon Lambert and Lisa Faulkner will be serving up a range of their favourite summer dishes, while Michel Roux Jr adds a double helping of Michelin stardust.

For those wanting to put their newfound culinary knowledge to the test, The Classroom will be offering up hands-on masterclasses on everything from Sourdough Workshops and Naked Cake Decorating with the BBC Good Food Cookery Team to Gin and Cocktail masterclasses and Kids' Cookery. Once visitors have worked up an appetite they can shop from over one hundred food stalls and artisan food producers, guaranteed to get the taste buds tingling. From oysters and sausages to sweet treats and an array of ales, there is something for everyone. There'll also be a bandstand with live music, complete with relaxing deckchairs on hand for revellers to soak up the festival atmosphere.

Plenty of activities will be on hand to keep the little ones entertained at both festivals, including vintage games and fairground favourite Helter Skelter at Tower of London and shire horses and a Circus School on offer at Hampton Court.

Set over the three days of the August Bank Holiday weekend, the Hampton Court Palace Food Festival is held in the spectacular gardens of the former home of one of history's most notorious foodies, King Henry VIII and is guaranteed to delight all food-lovers.

With free entry to the palace and its formal gardens included in every ticket, visitors will be encouraged to explore Hampton Court's fine surroundings, with the world's oldest puzzle maze, the largest grapevine on the planet and the fun-filled Magic Garden all waiting to be discovered. Inside the palace, food enthusiasts can also learn what it took to feed up to 600 people twice a day in the famous Tudor Kitchens, where Hampton Court's team of historic chefs will be cooking up a storm, roasting meat on the great fire and creating a meal fit for a king.

Running from September 7-9, the Tower of London Food Festival is the perfect way to enjoy the final days of summer, promising a scrumptious few days of entertainment. Taking place in the fortress's historic dry moat, all tickets include both entry to the festival and to the Tower of London itself, meaning there's no better time to pay a visit to this iconic site. Home of the awe-inspiring Crown Jewels, ravens and Yeoman Warders, there are over 900 years of history for visitors to explore within the walls of the capital's formidable fortress.

Tickets to both the Hampton Court Palace Food Festival and Tower of London Food Festival are on sale now at hrpfoodfestivals.com. Tickets at both events include entry to the affiliated palace.

Blondie's at the BOOM BOOM

Debbie Harris

Bootleg Blondie take to the stage at the Boom Boom Club in Sutton this Friday night (August 17)

Lead vocalist Debbie Harris and Bootleg Blondie have played the Isle Of Wight Festival, the 100 Club, the Hammersmith Palais, The Electric Ballroom in London, Eric's in Liverpool, and have opened up for amongst others The Undertones, Slade, The Beat, Bad Manners, Heaven 17, Toyah, Hazel O'Connor, Tony Hadley, David Essex and Nick Kershaw and can be seen at all the major venues and festivals around the UK and Europe.

Debbie Harris and the boys have met the real Blondie and are officially endorsed by the band. Debbie Harris got in touch in 2006 when she heard we were playing CBGB's in New York City to wish us good luck with our show and when Clem Burke, Blondie's charismatic drummer, found out that we were making a replica of his Premier drum kit, he arranged a meet up to sign the Bootleg's bass drum skin. 'During the 2010 Blondie tour of the UK we took Clem out for a trip around London in our tour bus, he signed that too,' said Debbie.

In 2014 Clem invited Debbie and Andy to a recording session at the Foo Fighters' famous 606 Studio in Los Angeles, where they saw Clem and the awesome Neve mixing desk in action.

Debbie and Andy got married in March 2016 and to their great delight received two video clips from both Blondie and Debbie Harris herself congratulating them on their wedding day. What a wedding present.

And probably the best Xmas present in the world ever was in 2016 when Clem Burke came along to a Bootleg Blondie gig and actually got up and played drums on stage with the band! He said afterwards that watching and playing with Bootleg Blondie was very emotional. Well Bootleg Blondie were very touched by Clem's presence.

Debbie Harris has the looks, the voice and the attitude of the original Blondie bombshell and like her heroine is typically outrageous on stage.

She has been known to wear dustbin liners, thigh length boots and t-shirts with more holes than t-shirt! Debbie's pride and joy is her guitar which she plays at every show and is signed by all the Blondie band members.

Debbie Harris is the niece of the celebrated singer and actress Shani Wallis who played Nancy in Lionel Bart's musical film Oliver.

Bootleg Blondie, The Boom Boom Club, Sutton United FC, Gander Green Lane, Sutton, SM1 2EY, Friday, August 17, doors 7.30pm, £12/£13. For more details visit feenstra.co.uk

FILMCHOICE

ANT-MAN AND THE WASP (12A): Earlier this summer, larger-than-life characters from across the Marvel Comics galaxy united to combat the threat of the mighty Thanos in the superhero showdown, Avengers: Infinity War. However, one miniature crimefighter - wisecracking cat burglar Scott Lang (Paul Rudd) - was notable by his absence from the pyrotechnic-laden combat. Peyton Reed's crowd-pleasing sequel neatly explains Lang's no-show against Thanos with a high-octane blast of rip-roaring entertainment, which dizzies and delights in equal measure. Adopting a more intimate style of storytelling, Ant-Man And The Wasp choreographs a series of outrageous set-pieces without losing the broad humour or tender emotion that made the original 2015 film a sizeable hit. Notably, this is Marvel's first action-packed feature with a female superhero proudly name-checked in the title and Evangeline Lilly's airborne assassin dominates the bruising fight sequences when she isn't catalysing molten on-screen chemistry with Rudd's reluctant saviour.

TEEN TITANS GO! TO THE MOVIES (PG): The long-running animated TV series Teen Titans Go!, a tongue-in-cheek spin-off from the DC Comics universe, makes its big screen debut with a grin-inducing flourish thanks to co-directors Peter Rida Michail and Aaron Horvath. Teen Titans Go! To The Movies pokes gentle fun at the glut of superhero films, which clog up multiplexes and earnestly expand the mythologies of well-known characters torn from the pages of comic books. A nimble script, co-written by the TV series' creators Michael Jelenic and Horvath, takes aim at predictable targets: The avoidable tragedies in superheroes' pasts, Stan Lee's obligatory cameos, that instantly forgettable Green Lantern film starring Ryan Reynolds. Most of the punchlines elicit knowing giggles as a perfunctory plot sermonises the importance of teamwork and self-sacrifice to younger audiences. Fleeting verbal gags, including a spoof of the Marvel Comics flip book title sequence, are complemented by knowing, self-referential dialogue that gleefully draws attention to the film's own shortcomings including a big reveal about the identity of the chief villain.

MISSION: IMPOSSIBLE - FALLOUT (12A): In 1996, when Tom Cruise accepted his mission to revamp the classic 1960s TV series, it's unlikely he envisioned that he would still be breaking sweat as gung-ho IMF agent Ethan Hunt more than two decades later. Life is full of surprises and few are as sweet or exhilarating as Mission: Impossible - Fallout. The sixth and arguably best instalment of the globe-trotting franchise welcomes back writer-director Christopher McQuarrie, Oscar-winning screenwriter of The Usual Suspects, for a suspenseful thriller that unravels tangled narrative threads from the 2015 film, Rogue Nation. While other blockbusters rely heavily on digital trickery, Fallout places its most expensive special effect - its leading man - in almost every adrenaline-pumping shot. Cruise performs his own death-defying stunts, including riding a motorcycle without a helmet at high speed against the flow of traffic around the Arc de Triomphe, piloting a helicopter during a stomach-churning 360 degree downward spiral, and freefall jumping at 25,000ft from an aircraft travelling at 165mph. IMF's communications might self-destruct after five seconds but Cruise grimly and gallantly endures.

HOTEL TRANSYLVANIA 3: A MONSTER VACATION (U): Towards the gently effervescent conclusion of director Genndy Tartakovsky's computer-animated sequel, a DJ attempts to break the evil spell that has enslaved a kraken by blasting out Bobby McFerrin's upbeat anthem Don't Worry, Be Happy. The infectious, chart-topping hit should play throughout Hotel Transylvania 3: A Monster Vacation, which doesn't worry about character development or a coherent plot and is blissfully happy to set sail for predictable laughs in foreign climes. Humour in this third chapter, co-written by Tartakovsky and Michael McCullers, is decidedly long in the vampire's tooth as Dracula (Adam Sandler) dips his immortal toes into the perilous world of right- and left-swiping potential love matches. Vocal performances search in vain for big laughs amidst the sugary sentiment and a final reel reveal is telegraphed far in advance.

MAMMA MIA! HERE WE GO AGAIN (PG): Ol Parker's sequel to the feel-good Abba jukebox musical Mamma Mia! doesn't quite achieve the same intoxicating sense of nostalgia-drenched delirium. In a sing-off with The Greatest Showman, this bittersweet return to the sun-kissed Evangeline Lilly as Hope van Dyne/The Wasp and Paul Rudd as Scott Lang/Ant-Man. PA Photo/Marvel Studios/Ben Rothstein.

Greek island of Kalokairi comes off second best to the razzle-dazzle of Hugh Jackman and his kaleidoscopic circus of melodic misfits. However, when all is said and done, Parker's film is hard-wired to entertain, with a comforting recipe of glossy song and dance numbers, saucy humour, simmering romance and Oscar winner Meryl Streep ripping the hearts out of chests as she mines the raw emotion of Benny Andersson and Bjorn Ulvaeus's lyrics. The addition of Cher as Streep's impeccably coiffed mother is a masterstroke. From the moment we hear the thrum of the chart-topping diva's private helicopter approaching Kalokairi, Parker's film cranks up the volume on our pleasure to 11 and blows the roof off the taverna with her rapturous interpretation of Fernando with fellow newcomer Andy Garcia. These final 15-20 minutes, when the full cast is reunited on the island idyll, are on the money, money, money.

HOTEL ARTEMIS (15): Style confidently trumps substance in Drew Pearce's intriguing dystopian thriller about a secret membership-only hospital for the criminal fraternity. Set during a sweltering summer of civil unrest in futuristic Los Angeles, Hotel Artemis dazzles with expertly choreographed fight sequences and pithy one-liners. The writer-director is aided by a mesmerising lead performance from Jodie Foster as the agoraphobic clinician in charge of the hospital, who has spent 22 torturous years within its cracked walls and self-medicates to numb the pain of her devastating loss. Grungy production design is enhanced by South Korean cinematographer Chung-hoon Chung, who revels in the decaying grandeur of the central location. Foster's searing performance is complemented by the bristling menace of Dave Bautista as an orderly, who threatens "to unheal" anyone who breaks the hospital's bond of confidentiality. The promised prescription of thrills and spills delivers only a fleeting high.

There are ways to make buying your first home easier. Here, OnTheMarket.com and the Money Advice Service explore some of them.

SAVING MONEY FOR YOUR DEPOSIT: Before you start looking at properties you'll need to start saving for a deposit. You need to try to save at least 5% to 20% of the cost of the home you'd like. So if you want to buy a home costing £150,000, you'll need to save at least £7,500. Saving more than 5% will make it easier for you to apply for a wider range of mortgages. Once you know the amount of deposit you'll need, make a plan to reach this goal. Be realistic about how much you can afford. Regular saving is more effective than relying on irregular one-off sums. How long it will take depends on how much you can afford to set aside each month.

HELP TO BUY: Do you have at least a 5% deposit? The government's Help to Buy scheme makes it possible to buy a new or existing home even if you've only got a small deposit. With Help to Buy there are two options available: equity loans and mortgage guarantees. Equity loans are only available if you are buying a newly built home. You can borrow 20% of the purchase price interest-free for the first five years as long as you have a 5% deposit. Mortgage guarantees are available for new and old properties across the UK. The government will cover part of any losses your lender may sustain if the mortgage is not repaid. There are limits on the cost of the property you can buy using both of these schemes, which differ across the UK. Read more in the Money Advice Service's guide to Help to Buy.

HELP TO BUY ISAS: The Help to Buy ISA scheme (which launched in December 2015) is designed to help first-time buyers save up for a deposit for their home. This scheme means the government will top up your savings by 25%. That means that for every £200 you save the government will give you £50. The most the government will contribute is £3,000, so the most you can save in a Help to Buy ISA is £12,000. The minimum you need to save to qualify is £1,600, which would give you a £400 bonus. Help to Buy ISAs are available to each first-time buyer, not each house. So if you're buying a property with someone else, you can get up to £6,000 towards your deposit.

SHARED OWNERSHIP: Shared ownership is a cross between renting and buying, aimed mainly at first-time buyers. You buy a share of a home from the landlord and rent the part you don't own at a reduced rate. The landlord in this case is usually your local council or housing association. Shared ownership schemes are designed to help people who don't earn enough to buy a home outright. People aged 55 and over and people with long-term disabilities can also apply. You will have to take out a mortgage to pay for your share, which is between 25% and 75% of the home's value. You then pay a reduced rent on the share you don't own. You have the option later on to buy a bigger share of the property – up to 100% – when you can afford to.

reduced rate. The size of the discount varies depending on where you live and the type of property you want to buy. Tenants normally need to have rented from their local council or housing association for three years before they qualify. The three years can be non-consecutive. Right to Acquire is a scheme offered in England and Wales for housing association tenants who don't qualify for Right to Buy. The discounts are slightly smaller. The Money Advice Service has more information on 'Right to Buy' and 'Right to Acquire'.

GUARANTOR MORTGAGE: If you're lucky enough to have parents, relatives or friends who can help, you may be able to get a guarantor mortgage. This means that they're responsible for covering your mortgage repayments if you're unable to meet them. These kind of mortgages come with risks, though. The guarantor is liable for the loan if you default and start missing payments. This could affect both of your credit scores. This is one area where it helps to talk to a professional. A mortgage broker will be able to tell you which lenders offer guarantor mortgages and the implications of becoming a guarantor.

BUYING WITH FRIENDS OR FAMILY MEMBERS: Buying with a friend or family member is becoming more popular as UK house prices continue to soar. The benefits of doing this include sharing the deposit, mortgage repayments and maintenance costs. You can also consider a larger mortgage than you would otherwise be able to. Sharing ownership does come with potential risks, though. There could be financial complications if one party pays more of the deposit than the other. There is also the possibility of disputes further down the road. Both parties need to think hard about the pros and cons before entering into this arrangement. But if care is taken to ensure that all parties are happy and agreements are watertight, you'll have an investment that increases in value. This article is provided by the Money Advice Service. Read the full first-time buyer guide by the Money Advice Service here. Content provided by OnTheMarket.com is for information purposes only. Tax-free money for homeowners aged 55 or over with an equity release plan

- ☒ Tax-free lump sum of money
- ☒ Stay in the home you love
- ☒ No monthly repayments

GET YOUR FREE QUOTE

If you're a homeowner aged 55 plus, you could benefit from releasing money locked up in your home with multi-award-winning equity release specialists Age Partnership.

Speak to one of their advisors who will let you know if equity release is right for you, how it affects other financial matters including inheritance tax or how your entitlement to means-tested benefits could be affected now or in the future. Equity release may involve a home reversion plan or a lifetime mortgage, which is secured against your property. To understand the features and risks, ask for your personalised illustration. Any money released, plus accrued interest would be repaid upon death, or moving into long-term care.

They provide initial advice for free and without obligation. Only if you choose to proceed and your case completes would a fee of 1.95% of the amount released be payable (minimum £1,495).

THE SURREY COUNTY COUNCIL

SOUTH STREET (A24) EPSOM
TEMPORARY PROHIBITION OF STOPPING
ORDER 2018

ON 15 AUGUST 2018 SURREY COUNTY COUNCIL MADE the above mentioned Temporary Order, under Section 14(1) and 14(7) of the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984, the effect of which is to temporarily:-

(a) prohibit all vehicles from stopping or remaining at rest at any time in that length of South Street (A24) Epsom as extends from its junction with Ashley Avenue to its junction with West Street;

(b) suspend "THE SURREY COUNTY COUNCIL (VARIOUS ROADS IN EPSOM AND EWELL) (REVOCATION AND CONSOLIDATION OF WAITING, LOADING AND UNLOADING PROHIBITION AND RESTRICTION) ORDER 2018" only insofar as it relates to the length of South Street specified in sub-paragraph (a) above.

This Order is required because works are being or are proposed to be executed on or near the said road, namely works in relation to the conversion of South Street to a two way working, to be carried out by Surrey County Council. These works are anticipated to be completed within 3 weeks, during the 3 month period of operation of this Order, which commences on 25 August 2018. Advanced warning signs will be displayed and the temporary restriction and suspension of Order will only operate when the relevant traffic signs are displayed and to the extent indicated by those traffic signs. Any vehicle found to be obstructing the highways during these works will be removed to a suitable location outside the limits of the works after all reasonable methods have been undertaken to identify and contact the vehicle's owner.

The restriction above will not apply to vehicles being used for fire brigade, ambulance or police purposes, anything done on the direction or with the permission of a police constable in uniform or any sign placed by Surrey Police. The restriction on stopping above shall also not apply to any vehicle required to stop by law or in order to prevent an accident, or for any vehicle in connection with the works. No exemptions will apply for disabled persons' vehicles.

Salts leave it late in cup

Epsom and Ewell beat Langney Wanderers 2-1 on Sunday to progress to the Preliminary Round of the FA Cup and a clash with Beckenham Town.

Lloyd Connelly gave the Salts a half-time advantage before the home side hit back to level the scores. However, Taryn Smith popped up with winner in the last few minutes to send his side through.

Neil Grant's side return to Combined Counties League Division One action this weekend when they travel to Bagshot on Saturday (August 18).

The Following Tuesday (August 21) the Salts hit the road again to make the short trip to play Chessington and Hook United as they look to build on their impressive start to the season.

Eastmond punishes the Fleet

Craig Eastmond scored against Ebbsfleet (above) and Salford (left) Pictures: Paul Loughlin

By Warren Gwilym
wgwilym@london.
newsquest.co.uk

Craig Eastmond pounced on a weak header to secure Sutton United a fine 1-0 win at Ebbsfleet on Tuesday night.

The midfielder was rewarded for chasing down defender Jack Powell whose attempt to shepherd the ball back to Nathan Ashmore fell short.

Eastmond seized upon the opportunity to poke the ball over the onrushing goalkeeper in the 31st minute for what proved to be the winner.

It was the second time in three days that Eastmond hit the target having scored the equaliser in Saturday's 2-1 success over Salford City.

United manager Paul Doswell was delighted with the way his players went about their business against a well-drilled Ebbsfleet side.

"You saw another side of us tonight," he told SUFCtv.

"I thought Ebbsfleet were very good. They caused us a lot of problems, especially in that first 25 minutes when the game could have got away from us.

"But, credit to the team for sticking in there. We had to change the shape two or three times to match them.

"We took that golden opportunity which was a mistake on their part.

"Eastmond's made a 50 yard run and nearly caught up with Powell whose header was adrift. But it was a brilliant finish by Easty.

"It will be interesting to see the stats but we've had some players run some miles tonight."

Doswell was keen to praise young striker Aaron Drinan who made his first start for United on Tuesday.

The 20-year-old Ipswich Town loanee completed his first 90 minutes in Sutton colours and went close to opening his account for the U's.

"I think he's run a marathon for us out there today," enthused Doswell.

"He's a fantastic kid and great to have around the camp.

"What he's realising very quickly is the National League is a physical league mixed in with some quite good players.

"He'll benefit greatly from that first start tonight and he started because he'd done so well in the two appearances where he's come on.

"I thought Josh Taylor and Aaron had a huge effect when they came on against Salford. He's fitted in well with the squad."

Sutton's latest three-point haul puts them third place in the Vanarama National League on goal difference from leaders Wrexham and second-placed Gateshead.

Next up for the U's is a trip to Solihull Moors on Saturday (August 18).

Skipper digs deep for victory

Reigate Priory 159 Sutton 160-6 Sutton completed the league double over table topping Reigate Priory at Cheam Road on Saturday, writes Neil Clark.

Reigate struggled against Sutton's seam and spin attack and tight fielding led by keeper Murphy, Ratnasbapathy 2-18 Freddy Boys 2-35 supporting Richard Sillars 4-27 as Reigate were dismissed for 159 in 48.3 overs.

In response, Morris and Boys started aggressively to rattle up 60 for the first wicket before Morris was harshly adjudged LBW to paceman Stevens for 25.

Sutton promoted big hitting Shinwari to number three but the gamble failed as he was dismissed for 9. Allen was bowled by Stevens for 0 and Sutton were wobbling at 85-3 which quickly became 87-4 as Boys became Stevens third victim caught behind for 47. Outram 9 and Luke Smith 5 didn't hang around long and at 107-6 the tension was palpable but the cool head and experience of former Northants keeper David Murphy 18* and Skipper Dan Edwards 42* from 41 balls including two sixes and four fours punished the part time spin of Dahl and Elliston to take Sutton to victory in 37 overs, Stevens 4-21 was the pick of the Reigate attack.

Jamie Griffins 2nd XI's incredible run of victories was extended to 12 as they overcame Valley End by 66 runs. Josh Blake 66 and Aneesh Jhalla 4-34 the star performers.

Sutton are now guaranteed promotion but will be pushing for the title in the final three matches.
